Provides for fiscal and economic impact statements under the Administrative Procedure Act. (8/1/25)

Proposed law requires that if the Legislative Fiscal Office (LFO) determines a rule has a fiscal or economic impact greater than $200,000 per year or more than $1 M over five years, the rule shall not take effect unless the appropriate House and Senate subject matter committee approves the rule.

Current law requires agencies to provide a written notice of their emergency action no later than five days after the adoption of an emergency rule. Proposed law requires the notice to contain an estimated financial and economic impact statement by the LFO; provides that if the fiscal or economic impact is greater than $200,000 per year or more than $1 M over five years: (1) the rule shall not take effect unless the appropriate House and Senate subject matter committee approves the rule and (2) the governor must publish a statement explaining the necessity of the emergency rule.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed law requires the appropriate House and Senate subject matter committees to approve rules in which the Legislative Fiscal Office determines a fiscal or economic impact of greater than $200,000 per year or more than $1 M over five years. The Office of the State Register and the Legislative Fiscal Office can absorb any increased workload associated with proposed law.

Should proposed law result in additional official committee meetings, legislative members may earn per diem and mileage reimbursements ($178 per day and $0.70 per mile respectively).

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
