EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed legislation is anticipated to reduce advertising expenditures in the Office of State Procurement (OSP) by an estimated $25,000 annually by eliminating the requirement to publish public notice of invitations to bid for single-budget-unit purchases in parish newspapers.

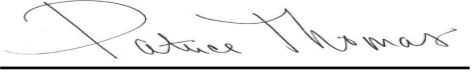

Other changes including expanding single-source procurement to include consulting services, allowing auction techniques when using the Invitation to Negotiate procurement method, and clarifying that support staff with specialized training may be included in social services contracts are expected to improve efficiency and reduce administrative workload, but are not expected to result in significant direct expenditures or additional savings. Technical changes to the IT procurement code are procedural and have no anticipated impact on expenditures.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
