(KEYWORD, SUMMARY, AND DIGEST as amended by Senate committee amendments)

CRIMINAL/JURY TRIALS: Provides relative to jury polling after a verdict is returned.

DIGEST

Present law authorizes the court, if requested by the state or the defendant, to poll the jury after returning its verdict.

Proposed law retains present law.

Present law provides that oral polling of the jury consists of the clerk's calling each juror, one at a time, by name. He shall announce to each juror the verdict returned, and ask him, "Is this your verdict?" Upon receiving the juror's answer to the question, the clerk shall record the answer.

Proposed law deletes present law.

Present law provides for a procedure by which the jury may be polled orally or in writing. Oral polling of the jurors consists of the clerk's calling each juror by name, announcing to each juror the verdict returned, and asking each juror "Is this your verdict?". Under the written polling procedure, present law requires the clerk to hand to each juror a separate piece of paper containing the name of the juror and the words "Is this your verdict?", upon which the juror shall write the word "Yes" or "No" and his signature.

Present law provides that if, upon polling all of the jurors, the number of jurors required by law to find a verdict answer "Yes," the court shall order the clerk to record the verdict and the jury shall be discharged. However, if, upon polling all of the jurors, the number required to find a verdict do not answer "Yes," the jury may be remanded for further deliberation, or the court may declare a mistrial in accordance with present law.

Proposed law removes the authority of the court to conduct an oral poll of the jury after a verdict is rendered.

With respect to the conducting of a written poll of the jury after a verdict is rendered, proposed law retains present law but provides that the polling slips used to conduct the poll may be placed under seal upon order of the court. Further provides that the slips shall not be released to the public without a subsequent order of the court authorizing their release.

(Amends C.Cr.P. Art. 812)

Summary of Amendments Adopted by House

The Committee Amendments Proposed by House Committee on Administration of Criminal Justice to the original bill:

1. Amend proposed law relative to the conducting of a written poll of the jury to retain the present law requirement that a slip of paper contain the name of the juror and the juror's signature, but provides that such slip of paper shall be placed under seal in the court record and not be released except upon order of the court.
