EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

The Dept. of Revenue anticipates approximately $44,000 of one-time information technology staff-time for programming, testing and system development costs related to this new credit, as well as a new standardized format/return required by the bill.

In addition, the Dept. indicates the potential need for personnel to accept and analyze foster care organization certifications prior to donations beginning in 2020. This is a recurring costs associated with the annual certification required by the bill. Monitoring the annual program credit cap and tax returns claiming the credit and carry-forward will also involve costs, along with taxpayer interactions. The Dept. indicates that as many as 3 additional positions may be required. Actual ongoing administrative costs are uncertain as to magnitude and timing, and subject to appropriation, but even modest utilization of the credit requires annual certifications and tax return claims processing relative to a program credit cap.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

An estimate of donations affected by the bill would be speculative. However, the bill provides a maximum exposure to the state fisc of $1 million per calendar year. The earliest this exposure could begin being realized is FY21, for donations made in 2020. Credit claims are likely to be less than the maximum allowed initially, but ramp-up over time as the availability of the credit becomes known.
