

RÉSUMÉ DIGEST

HR 250

2022 Regular Session

Davis

Creates a special legislative commission to study the costs and feasibility of providing insurance coverage benefits for the diagnosis of and treatment for infertility, including but not limited to standard fertility preservation services, intrauterine insemination procedures, and in vitro fertilization procedures.

Requires the commission to report its findings from the study to the speaker of the House of Representatives and the House Committee on Insurance on or before Feb. 1, 2023.