2024 Regular Session

Abstract: Allows all candidates for a party primary office to qualify by filing a notice of candidacy accompanied either by a nominating petition or by the qualifying fee and any additional fee imposed if the notice is not accompanied by a nominating petition.

Present law for elections other than for a party primary office, provides that a person who desires to become a candidate in a primary election shall qualify as a candidate by timely filing a notice of candidacy, which shall be accompanied either by a nominating petition or by the qualifying fee and any additional fee imposed if the notice is not accompanied by a nominating petition. Present law requires that signatures be acquired on the petition not more than 120 days before the qualifying period. Present law, relative to offices that are party primary offices, provides that the number of qualified voters who must timely sign a nominating petition is (a) for U.S. Senate—5,000, not less than 500 of which shall be from each of the congressional districts into which the state is divided and (b) for U.S. House, membership on PSC or BESE, and supreme court justice—1000 from within the respective district.

Present law provides that for a person who is not registered as being affiliated with a political party recognized pursuant to present law (R.S. 18:441(C)) and who desires to become a candidate in the general election for a party primary office, present law provides that such a person may qualify as a candidate by filing a notice of candidacy accompanied by a nominating petition signed by persons who are qualified to vote on the office the potential candidate seeks and who are not affiliated with a political party recognized pursuant to present law (R.S. 18:441(C)).

Proposed law additionally allows a person who is not registered as being affiliated with a political party recognized pursuant to present law (R.S. 18:441(C)) to qualify for a party primary office by filing a notice of candidacy accompanied by the qualifying fee and any additional fee. Proposed law further specifies that signatures be acquired on a nominating petition not more than 120 days before the qualifying period opens for candidates in the party primary election and otherwise retains present law.

Present law, for a person who is registered as being affiliated with political party recognized pursuant to present law (R.S. 18:441(C)) and who desires to become a candidate in a party primary office, provides as follows:

- (1) Allows for qualifying by filing a notice of candidacy accompanied by either a nominating petition or by the qualifying fee and any additional fee.

- (2) Provides that only persons who are affiliated with same recognized political party as the potential candidate and who are qualified to vote on the office may sign a nominating petition for a potential candidate.
- (3) Requires that such signatures be acquired on the petition not more than 120 days before the qualifying period opens for candidates in the party primary election.

Proposed law retains present law.

Effective when present law (Act No. 1 of the 2024 1st E.S.) becomes effective.
