 Provides relative to residential contractor fraud

Current law provides for the crime of residential contractor fraud and penalties for its violation. Proposed law retains current law and provides that if the victim of residential contractor fraud is 65 years of age or older and the offender's conduct causes emotional or mental suffering, the offender, in addition to any other penalties under current law, shall be imprisoned for no more than five years, with or without hard labor; provides that nothing in current law precludes a victim from pursuing civil remedies under current law or any other provision of law.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable increase in SGF expenditures in the Department of Public Safety and Corrections – Corrections Services (DPS&C – CS) if a person is convicted of residential contractor fraud to a victim 65 years of age or older and the offender's conduct causes emotional or mental suffering. Proposed law has the effect of adding a penalty of imprisonment for those convicted of residential contractor fraud under circumstances relating to the age of the victim and the offender's conduct causing emotional or mental suffering, notwithstanding any existing penalties of imprisonment provided in current law. Proposed law is a relative felony, and any impact on either local or state expenditures is contingent on whether offenders sustain either misdemeanor or felony-grade convictions for its violation.

For those convicted, sentenced, and then subsequently housed in a state facility, DPS&C-CS will sustain expenditures of $107.60 per offender per day, or $26.39 per offender per day for those housed in local facilities. DPS&C-CS advises that impacts on offender populations are anticipated to impact the number of offenders held in local facilities, and that in managing its offender population, it seeks to fill all beds in state facilities first, then assigns overflow offenders to local facilities.

To the extent that offenders sustain misdemeanor convictions for malfeasance in office, local governing authorities may incur an increase in Local Funds expenditures. The exact fiscal impact of the passage of this legislation to local governing authorities is indeterminable, since it is not known how many people will be convicted and incarcerated in local facilities, nor the length of the sentences assessed with those convictions as a result of its potential enactment. The maximum imprisonment term is no more than 5 years at the local level.

The LFO is working with the Department of Public Safety & Corrections - Corrections Services to determine the average number of offenders and average sentences imposed on those convicted for residential contractor fraud to determine any potential fiscal impact. That information will be provided once it becomes available.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable increase in local revenues as a result of convictions of residential contractor fraud. The exact fiscal impact of the passage of this legislation on local revenue is indeterminable, as the fines that would be imposed on those convicted are optional, and the amount of fines, if imposed, may vary. The potential revenue will accrue to the local governing authority.
