A violation of present law is punishable by a fine between $1,000 and $25,000, or imprisonment with or without hard labor for between one year and 10 years, or both.

Proposed law provides that possessing or using a bait dog to train another dog for dogfighting is admissible as evidence against a person charged with the crime of dogfighting. Proposed law also provides that owning or possessing a former bait dog for the purpose of providing it with rehabilitative care is not a violation of proposed law. Proposed law increases the minimum fine from $1,000 to $5,000.

Proposed law otherwise retains present law.

Effective August 1, 2024.
