2024 Regular Session

Tarver

Existing law (Code of Governmental Ethics–R.S. 42:1113) generally prohibits a public servant, a member of his immediate family, or a legal entity in which he has a specified interest from bidding on or entering into any contract, subcontract, or other transaction that is under the supervision or jurisdiction of the public servant's agency or governmental entity. Existing law (R.S. 42:1112) further prohibits a public servant from participating in a transaction in which he, his immediately family members, or specified other persons and entities have a substantial economic interest, of which he maybe reasonably expected to know, involving the governmental entity. Existing law provides certain exceptions.

New law adds an exception to allow a public servant, his immediate family, and related legal entities to provide an agency of the governmental entity of the public servant a thing of economic value to obtain advertisements or other recognition featuring the public servant, immediate family member, or the legal entity if the public servant recuses or disqualifies himself on all matters involving the transaction, if applicable; the terms and conditions of the transaction are the same as or substantially similar to those available to similarly situated persons who are not public servants or related persons; the transaction is conducted without preference and in the same manner and subject to the same requirements and conditions applicable to the general public; and the value of the transaction does not exceed $10,000. New law further prohibits a person from entering into separate transactions valued at $10,000 or less as a subterfuge to avoid the limitation.
