CRIME/BATTERY OR SEE FISC NOTE GF EX Page 1 of 2
 Provides relative to battery of a school teacher

Current law provides for the crime of battery of a school teacher and associated penalties for its violation; provides for dispositions after adjudication of certain felony-grade delinquent acts. Proposed law clarifies that if a student offender commits the crime of battery of a school teacher, and it does not produce an injury requiring medical attention, the offender will be sentenced to no less than 30 days nor more than six months imprisonment (down from one year) or fined no more than $1,000 (down from $5,000); provides that for a student offender who commits battery that produces an injury requiring medical attention, he shall be imprisoned with or without hard labor, for no less than 30 days nor more than a year (with at least 72 hours imposed without the benefit of suspension of sentence), or fined no more than $5,000; provides that for offenders under the age of 17, dispositions shall be governed exclusively by Title VII of the Children's Code; adds battery of a school teacher by a child 14 years of age or older to the list of felony-grade delinquent acts for which a second or subsequent offense that is a crime of violence, once adjudicated, will result in confinement in secure placement without benefit of probation, suspension, or execution of sentence; requires the court to require child participation in a court-approved counseling program (with costs borne by the parent, tutor, guardian, or financially responsible person).

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed law may result in an increase in SGF expenditures in the Department of Public Safety and Corrections – Corrections Services (DPS&C – CS) and the Department of Public Safety and Corrections - Youth Services (Office of Juvenile Justice), or a decrease in Local Funds expenditures, if a person is convicted of battery of a school teacher. Proposed law has the effect of delineating sentences for battery of a school teacher contingent upon whether the battery produces an injury requiring medical attention and whether the battery is committed by a student or a non-student.

Battery of a school teacher by a student that produces an injury

Proposed law may result in an increase in expenditures for those instances in which a battery is committed by a student and produces an injury that requires medical attention. The proposed law is a relative felony, and any impact on either state or local expenditures is contingent on whether offenders sustain either a misdemeanor or felony-grade conviction for its violation. The exact fiscal impact is indeterminable, as it is unknown how many people will be convicted or the length of the sentences assessed with those convictions. The maximum sentence of imprisonment is no more than five years.

To the extent that offenders sustain a felony-grade conviction for violation of the proposed law, DPS&C-CS will sustain an indeterminable increase in expenditures. For those convicted, sentenced, and then subsequently housed in a state facility, DPS&C-CS will sustain expenditures of $107.60 per offender per day. For those housed in local facilities, DPS&C-CS will sustain expenditures of $29.39 per offender per day. DPS&C-CS advises that impacts on offender populations are anticipated to impact the number of offenders held in local facilities, and that in managing its offender population, it seeks to fill all beds in state facilities first, then assigns overflow offenders to local facilities.

Battery of a school teacher by a student that does not produce an injury

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable decrease in Local Funds expenditures, for those instances in which a battery is committed by a student, and the battery does not produce an injury requiring medical attention. Proposed law retains its posture as a misdemeanor and reduces the applicable sentences of imprisonment from no more than one year to no more than six months. The exact fiscal impact to Local Expenditures is unknown, as it is unknown the number of persons who will be convicted of the proposed law in the future, with lower stays of incarceration than those currently serving prison sentences for the current law sentence of no more than one year.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable decrease in local revenues as a result of convictions of battery of a school teacher by a student that does not produce an injury that requires medical attention, or by a non-student (regardless of whether it produces an injury requiring medical attention). The exact fiscal impact of the passage of this legislation on local revenue is indeterminable because the fines that would be imposed on those convicted (not more than $1,000) are optional, and the amount of the fines, if imposed, may vary. The potential revenue will accrue to the local governing authority.

Office of Juvenile Justice

Proposed law may result in an indeterminable increase in expenditures in the Department of Public Safety and Corrections - Youth Services (Office of Juvenile Justice), to the extent that persons 14 years of age or older are adjudicated of a felony-grade delinquent act of battery of a school teacher (pursuant to the Louisiana Children's Code). The exact fiscal impact to expenditures to the Office of Juvenile Justice is indeterminable, because it is unknown the number of juvenile referrals that will be made for adjudications of violations of the proposed law. For each adjudication that results in placement in secure placement, the Office of Juvenile Justice will sustain expenditures of $151.81 per day.
