Present law generally prohibits any retiree of the Teachers' Retirement System of Louisiana from receiving a retirement benefit while reemployed, subject to certain exceptions. Provides that the benefit of a reemployed retiree is suspended for the duration of reemployment.

Present law allows certain classes of retirees, including those holding advanced degrees in speech therapy, speech pathology, and audiology, to avoid benefit suspension during reemployment.

Proposed law adds retirees reemployed as educational diagnosticians and reading specialists to the exceptions to present law.

Proposed law requires any cost of proposed law to be funded with additional employer contributions in compliance with Art. X, Section 29(F) of the state constitution.

Effective June 30, 2014.
