Provides relative to employment eligibility requirements for teachers in charter schools

The proposed legislation requires charter schools to employ only those persons with valid teaching certificates from the Department of Education as teachers. The bill allows for teachers that are not certificated but who possess at least a baccalaureate degree to be hired if there are otherwise no qualified applicants for the position.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There could be an increase in expenditures of charter schools to the extent that a school would have to replace an existing teacher holding a baccalaureate degree with a certificated teacher at a higher salary. However, the Department of Education did not provide information on faculty staffing for the charter schools.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
