To require state agencies to install internet filters to block content which is obscene or sexually harassing and which create a hostile work environment. (8/1/18)

Present law provides for the state chief information officer to manage and direct the Office of Technology Services, with roles, duties, and activities that includes establishing and coordinating all information technology systems and information technology services affecting the management and operations of the executive branch of state government.

Proposed law directs the Office of Technology Services to adopt policies regarding the acceptable use by state employees, using state owned computers, to provide technology to block access or exposure to certain sites and provides for certain exceptions.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed law will not result in a material expenditure increase in the Division of Administration - Office of Technology Services (OTS) to adopt policies regarding the acceptable use by state employees of state owned computers to access the internet and online sites that contain or make reference to certain harmful materials. The agency reports that it currently handles the areas outlined in proposed law; therefore, it will not result in any additional workload changes for the executive branch entities under its purview.

To the extent, elected officials and other entities operate outside the management and operations of OTS, there may be a minimal expenditure impact to comply with proposed law. The potential expenditure impact is reflected as SGF above in this fiscal note for simplicity, but may be paid from any means of finance.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
