EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

Proposed law will increase SGR expenditures for the LA State Board of Medical Examiners (LSBME) by an indeterminable amount. The proposed legislation creates the Genetic Counselor Advisory Committee (GCAC) and provides for the licensure of genetic counselors in Louisiana. Up-front costs associated with the proposed law include initial rule promulgation regarding the regulation of genetic counselors in Louisiana. Rule promulgation costs typically total $1,000. Furthermore, the LSBME will be responsible for licensure activities, including conducting disciplinary hearings for licensees, maintenance of licensee records, and review of recommendations by the GCAC, which are anticipated to carry a marginal administrative cost. In addition, although members of the GCAC will not earn compensation, they will be reimbursed for expenses pursuant to PPM 49. While proposed law does increase administrative expenditures for the LSBME associated with the licensure of genetic counselors, it is assumed that any expenditures associated with licensure activities would likely be defrayed via fees paid by genetic counselors for licenses (see Revenue Explanation).

Lastly, proposed law may increase SGF expenditures for district courts to extent the LSBME seeks judicial action against persons practicing as genetic counselors without licensure. However, such costs are speculative and dependent upon the LSBME seeking such action.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

Proposed law will increase SGR collections for the LA State Board of Medical Examiners by an indeterminable amount. The proposed legislation vests the LSBME with rulemaking authority associated with the initial licensure and license renewals of genetic counselors, including applicable fees. However, proposed law does not explicitly include fee amounts. To the extent the LSBME promulgates rules with associated with licensure of genetic counselors, including license fees and other fees as necessary, any revenue derived from the aforementioned fees would accrue to the LSBME as SGR. However, because proposed law does not explicitly state license fee amounts, and because the number of genetic counselors that may be licensed by the LSBME is unknown, the exact revenue increase is indeterminable.

Furthermore, proposed law creates a new misdemeanor of "unlawful practice as a genetic counselor" and provides that the initial conviction of this misdemeanor would carry a fine of up to $1,000. Subsequent violations and convictions would carry fines of up to $2,000. Because the number of persons who may be convicted for practicing as an unlicensed genetic counselor is unknown, revenue derived from this source is speculative. However, in the event fines are levied for violations, they would accrue to local governing authorities.
