EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

Proposed law authorizes political subdivisions to exempt diapers and feminine hygiene products from all or part of any local sales and use tax levy.

LA Dept. of Revenue (LDR) does not collect data on consumer purchases of these products. For informational purposes, sales of these products in Louisiana has been projected using a combination of population data, personal and household consumption data, public market research reports and summaries, and fiscal impact estimates of similar recent legislation in other states. These projections amount to approximately $144M in taxable diaper sales for children, $34M in such sales for adults, and $71M in feminine hygiene products annually; totaling $249M annually. To the extent that political subdivisions elect to enact full or partial exemptions to sales and use taxes for these products, reductions in tax revenues to those political subdivisions will result.

Assuming an average local sales and use tax rate of 5%, under a scenario where all political subdivisions statewide elected to fully exempt these purchases, an aggregate annual local funds revenue reduction of approximately $12.5 million would result. This figure represents an upper bound of the potential impact of the exemption allowed by proposed law.

The actual impacts of proposed law will vary by jurisdiction, depending on which political subdivisions eventually elect to enact the exemption, whether each exemption enacted is full or partial, and the timing of the exemption becoming effective.

The bill contemplates local sales tax exemptions being granted for these products, although the precise impact to local revenues is indeterminable. To the extent political subdivisions enact exemptions, proposed law can only result in reduced local revenues.
