EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

The Department of Revenue indicates that the costs to modify and test tax systems to incorporate the credit to income provided by the bill would be approximately $26,000 of staff time.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

The bill appears to essentially re-instate the tax credit for donations to educational institutions provided in R.S. 47:37 and R.S. 47:287.755. That credit sunsets at the end of the 2019 tax period. For the last three years of reported information (FY17 - FY19), donations resulted in individual income tax credits averaging $820,000 per year (FY17 $777,232, FY18 $718,175, FY19 $965,542). Over the same period, donations resulted in corporate income tax credits averaging $1,324,000 per year (FY17 $470,302, FY18 $0, FY19 $3,502,475). Corporate donations can be more sporadic and variable. Utilizing these recent results as a model for re-instatement of the credit, state revenue might be expected to be reduced by an average of $2.120 million per year in combined individual and corporate income tax net receipts. Most of the individual income tax claims for a tax year would be realized in the first fiscal year after the year of donation (95%, then 100%), while most of the corporate income tax claims for a tax year would be realized in the second fiscal year after the year of donation (18%, 90%, 100%). This presumed ramp-up is incorporated into the revenue table above.
