EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure. The instruction will be integrated into the existing curriculum.

Some districts may use their own instructional materials while others may access material currently available at no cost. For example, the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) provides a comprehensive digital toolkit containing evidence-based messaging on the risks of e-cigarette use among young people.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
