SB 161 Reengrossed

2022 Regular Session

Talbot

Present law provides that the crime of carjacking is punishable by imprisonment at hard labor for between two and 20 years without benefit of parole, probation, or suspension of sentence.

Proposed law retains present law and provides for an increased penalty of not less than 10 nor more than 20 years, without the benefit of parole, probation, or suspension of sentence when during the commission of the crime of carjacking serious bodily injury is caused.

Effective Aug. 1, 2022.

(Amends R.S. 14:64.2(B))
