EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION
There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure. The proposed law prohibits insurance companies from requesting or requiring vaccination status information from individuals or businesses seeking to enroll or already enrolled in coverage. The proposed law prohibits insurance companies from requesting or requiring that a businesses applying or enrolling for coverage under the insurance plan, or a business that is currently covered, adopt any policies or procedures for vaccination status. Also, the proposed law prohibits insurance companies from using vaccination status when determining eligibility for coverage, establishing premiums, limiting coverage, or in the underwriting process. Proposed law does not apply to life insurance, annuity products, retirement plans, long-term care insurance, disability income insurance, reinsurance, or dental, vision, and other supplemental benefit products.

The Office of Group Benefits (OGB) has five self-funded health plans. OGB reports that none of their health plans utilize information on vaccination status that is prohibited under this measure.
