Schlegel

CONTRACTS: Provides relative to material harmful to minors

Synopsis of Senate Amendments

1. Defines "substantial portion".
2. Specifies that the restrictions placed on interactive computer services in proposed law apply to an interactive computer service that contains a substantial portion of material harmful to minors and enters into a contract with a minor.

Digest of Bill as Finally Passed by Senate

Proposed law defines "account", "interactive computer service", "minor", "material harmful to minors", and "substantial portion".

Proposed law prohibits an interactive computer service that contains a substantial portion of material harmful to minors and that enters into a contract with a minor from delivering or displaying to a minor account material harmful to minors that was created or developed, in whole or in part, by the interactive computer service.

Proposed law subjects any interactive computer service that violates the provisions of proposed law to a civil fine of up to $10,000 per violation set and enforced by the attorney general by filing a civil enforcement action in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Proposed law requires a court of competent jurisdiction that grants judgment or injunctive relief to the attorney general to award the attorney general reasonable attorney fees, court costs, and investigative costs.

Effective Jan. 1, 2027.
