Provides relative to a contract limit for hospital service districts

Present law prohibits Construction Management at Risk (CMAR) from being used for projects under two million dollars for hospital service districts.

Proposed law modifies present law by changing the minimum threshold to use CMAR funds from two million dollars to one million dollars for hospital service districts.

EXPENDITURE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental expenditures as a result of this measure. Proposed law lowers the CMAR threshold for hospital service districts from $2 million to $1 million, with no expected expenditure impact to the Office of Facility Planning and Control.

The CMAR method offers potential advantages compared to traditional procurement methods including expedited timing, contractor qualifications playing a more prominent role, cost transparency, and risk shifted from the owner to the contractor.

REVENUE EXPLANATION

There is no anticipated direct material effect on governmental revenues as a result of this measure.
